Workforce Development Progress Made

Both the House and the Senate are working on legislation to address Vermont's workforce challenges. The House of Representatives has passed H.533, a proposal with many elements, including:

- addressing recruiting and relocation of workers
- expanding training for weatherization coordinators
- designating training funds to small businesses
- creating a refugee employment task force
- studying adult career and technical education
- recruiting workers from military bases
- developing a support system for ex-offenders to enter the workforce

H.533 also appropriates funding for worker recruitment marketing, a priority of the Vermont Chamber.

The Senate bill, S.162, proposes to:

- amend the remote worker incentive to have a cap of $7,500 and apply to Vermont remote workers, and defines qualifying expenses
- appropriate $2 million for relocating workers and providing incentives
- adds enhanced incentives to the Vermont Employment Growth Incentive program for start-ups, small businesses, mission-based companies and environmental technology companies.

The Vermont Chamber supports the direction of these bills and efforts to close the workforce supply gap by training more Vermonters, moving those not in the workforce into jobs and recruiting people outside of Vermont to live and work here. The Vermont Chamber is committed to supporting the goal of attracting a highly trained workforce, while increasing local workforce development opportunities in new and expanding industries.
